

Prostitutes Appeal to Pope

Everyone has a dirty little secret. For some of us our 'dirty little secret' is putting a dent into a stranger's car while opening the door, but for the Pope, it appears to be prostitutes.

"I knew there wasn't something quite right about him lately," says his dear friend Peter Joseph. "He has been out late the past few weeks and I found it strange. If he's ever out past 8 it's normally with me and that's because we enjoy a good movie every once in awhile."

This shocking headline was news to the Pope's family and friends and has sparked outrage with thousands. Many are calling for him to step away from his duty as Pope for a few months to figure out what to do about the situation.

As funny as this headline may be it is not the first time a situation like this, involving a Pope, has come up. The previous Pope was in a similar position and he made it through, not with out ridicule though.

This reoccurring story involving the Popes is starting to make people wonder. Upon further investigation we learned that the Pope is not such an innocent man. "As a young boy he created many games involving the school girls from his school. He and the other boys would get the girls climbing around and look under their skirts!" says his younger brother, Matthew. "I remember coming home from school and listening to my parents tell him that was wrong. He was heavily disciplined but apparently that didn't make a difference."

Continue to follow this story as it progresses in future articles. And remember, your 'dirty little secret' is nothing compared to the Pope's!

Adoption! Why go through the pain when someone else already did it for you?
Call 1-800-75A-DOPT Today!